U. S. WARSHIP LAUNCHED

Newest Ship of Navy May go to Scrap Heap Under Proposal To Limit ArmamentWashington, Nov. 19. (By the Associated Press.)—A statement on behalf of Japan on several questions relating to the Far Eastern situation was made before the conference today. It was arranged that a complete public statement was to be issued later.The proposals by the Chinese delegation, as was expected, formed the basis for today's meeting and all delegates were understood to have expressed agreement on the principles in general.Baron Shidahara, who presented Japan's views, was said to have shown a friendly attitude toward the Chinese proposal and to have no material objection to them forming a basis for the proposed agreement.

SHIP CHRISTENED

Newport News, Va., Nov. 19.—The super dreadnaught West Virginia, newest addition to the American navy and scheduled to grace the scrap pile within a few months under the reduction program was successfully launched today at the plant of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock company. Miss Alice Mann of Bramwell, West Virginia, christened the ship as she glided from the ways.

WOULD BE DESTROYED

Washington, Nov. 19.—Launched as one of the proudest and greatest battleships ever designed by the American navy only to be scrapped within a few months appeared to be the fate of the super dreadnaught West Virginia today.The American naval reduction plan as presented to the armament conference plans for scrapping the West Virginia. If the American plan is agreed to the dreadnaught, today about 65 per cent complete, will never be finished or plow the seas bearing the Stars and Stripes.

WANTS PLAN EXTENDED

London, Nov. 19.—(By the Associated Press)—A manifesto issued today by the labor party on behalf of the labor movement of Great Britain promises support of any steps that may be necessary to make the American proposal for naval armament reductions effective and calls for the extension of the proposal to all forms of armament.OFFICER GOES WILD; NARROWLY ESCAPES CROWDCleveland Policeman Shoots At Pedestrians Seriously Wounding OneCleveland, Nov. 19.—Patrolman Martin Collan, who brother officers declare, was intoxicated, narrowly escaping being lynched here last night after he had seriously wounded Mrs. Antoinette Sandore, 28, while shooting at pedestrians in the vicinity of Central Avenue and East Fourteenth street. Three bullets passed through the coat of a detective as he attempted to disarm the officer.Not until reinforcements arrived did the throng of approximately 500 persons armed with revolvers and pistols disperse.Collan was arrested charged with shooting to kill Patrolman Wm. Mc-Gonigal, who had been with Collan earlier in the evening, also was arrested and booked on a charge of shooting to wound. They were off-duty.JOHNSON NAMES
AN ASSISTANTCharles Simon, of New England, will be one of the assistants to Svenbjorn Johnson, attorney-general-elect, he announced today in Grand Forks.
Others will be named later.561 VESSELS WERE LOST LAST YEARLondon, Nov. 19.—Steam and sailing vessels totally lost, or condemned last year numbered 561 of 645,603 tons, according to statistics published by Lloyds Register of Shipping.
Of these 255 were wrecked, 60 abandoned at sea, 80 foundered, 43 missing, 52 burnt, 36 lost in collision, 9 broken up and 26 "lost."The United States lost 168 vessels of 159,895 tons, Great Britain 163 of 160,361 tons.Grand Rapids, Mich., claims it has never had a bank failure.

DEER SEASON TO OPEN ON MONDAY IN STATE; WARNING ISSUED TO HUNTERSbuck may be shot, that hunters must wear distinctive head-dress and must have licenses.There is no need for deer hunters to get excited," he said. "Since the law provides a buck only may be shot unless he sees the buck's horns, and if he is careful there will be no fatal accident."When the bill was drawn last winter providing for a ten-day open season on deer the senate amended it to provide for a five-day open season, but the amendment was lost.Mr. Hogue complained that some of the men who last winter promised cooperation in enforcing the deer law if a short open season were granted, already have hunted deer. He names two local men as being among them.We are standing on the bill as "drawn," Mr. Hogue said, "and the supreme court usually takes the intention of the legislature in constructing a bill."

He said that the law provides one

SOO SCHEDULE CHANGE LAID
BEFORE TOWNSLocal Commercial Club Asks
Others To Join In Protest To CommissionTowns on the North and South Soo have been asked by the Commercial club to join in a request for "daylight service." Hearing on the matter will be held Nov. 23 before the railroad commission.In a circular letter to towns on the South Soo it is stated the Soo proposes, beginning Nov. 7, to have the train now leaving Bismarck at 7:30 a.
m. leave at 7 a. m. and to make connections with the altered schedule of
No. 105 at Drake, arriving at Minot at 8:05 p. m. on train No. 105. The returns, it is said."If the proposed schedule goes into effect Nov. 27 it will be impossible to do any business in Bismarck without remaining over two nights," says the letter to North Soo towns. "It will also make practically impossible physical connections with the Eastbound Northern Pacific train No. 4 which leaves here at 7:32 p. m.""It is imperative that in the service on these lines no backward steps be made," say the letter to South Soo towns. "One step usually leads to another and finally the steps lead to a run and may result, at no distant time, in a straight mixed train service over these branches."The department was reopened shortly before the election when it was announced a bond sale contract had been entered into. A large number of applications were received for loans. The bank had on hand applications for about $1,300,000 of loans which had been on hand since the department closed over a year ago.The bank has made only 25 or 30 loans in this period of the last several weeks since the department was reopened. No more loans will be made pending the change in administration, Mr. Painter said. The total number of applications for loans since the bank opened for business is about 2,500.The department was reopened

8:30 a.m. Holy Communion.

At the very dawn of Christianity nearly two thousand years ago, it was the custom to meet at a very early hour on the first day of the week to celebrate the Holy Eucharist. There was a reason for this then and the same reason holds good even today. Come and meet your Lord before the distractions of the day begin.

10:00 a.m. Church Sunday School.

This is for all, both young and old. We have a splendid staff of teachers and plenty of room for new comers.

11:00 a.m. Morning Prayer and Sermon.

This is a bright, brief and brotherly service in which all the worshippers take a part. It begins at eleven and is over at twelve o'clock. At the close of the service there will be an opportunity to see the new addition to the parish house. A welcome for all. Strangers in the city especially invited.

Thanksgiving Day
A service will be held in St. Georges church on Thanksgiving Day at 10:00 o'clock in the morning. We are hoping for a large attendance.

S.D. RURAL CREDITS BOARD SELLS $41,500,000.00 WORTH OF BONDS

Pierre, S. D., Nov. 19.—Prior to the recent $6,000,000 bond issue sold this week to a New York trust company at a small premium, and at an apparently lower rate of interest than was paid during the war period, the South Dakota Rural Credits board had sold $26,500,000 worth in bonds according to a statement issued by the department. These earlier issues were sold mostly during the war period, the statement adds, in competition with war rates paid by state and other governments.

"The serious problem of forecasting in advance of any offering, the rate of interest at which bonds could be sold on the market, was wisely met by the board," the board's statement continues, "by usually fixing a rate somewhat lower than the prevailing market for the sake of the effect of the rate upon future issues."

"Therefore, while the rate expressed in the bonds was kept down, it resulted in the payment of discounts which, throughout the entire period referred to, aggregated $30,714.75. This sum will be amortized over the life of the bonds at the rate of about $30,000 per annum. This discount, therefore, becomes a part of the average money rate cost to be distributed over a period of twenty years."

"Future bond issues will most likely sell at a premium. At any rate, on the basis of the present outstanding loans and bonds, the annual profit will approximate $160,000. The gross annual operating expense will approximate $50,000, so that after paying the expenses and amortizing the discount, the net profit, upon the basis of the present status of the business will leave around $80,000 per annum to go as surplus."

"The rural credit system was not intended by its founders as a money making proposition, but was intended to be self-supporting, in addition to furnishing cheaper money to the agricultural interests of the state, and thus work a direct benefit to all the people."

"At the outset it was estimated that possibly $300,000 might be required for the maintenance of the system until such time as the difference between the rate at which loans were to be made and the cost of the money would bring a sufficient income to make the department self-supporting. Of the $300,000 appropriated for the purpose mentioned, only $60,000 has ever been drawn from the state treasury. It is not likely any more will ever be needed."

COMMISSION TO MAKE COMPREHENSIVE STUDY OF CHILD LIFE IN STATE

C. L. Young, President Of Children's Code Commission Makes His Report

MEETING HELD IN FARGO

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 19.—Showing the wide reaches which the work of the Children's Code Commission is attaining in its efforts to find the best laws to safeguard the welfare of the children of the state, C. L. Young of Bismarck, president of the Code Commission, presented his report of progress made to the second annual North Dakota Conference of Social Work, held at the Chamber of Commerce here today. The appointment of the Code Commission was the result of ideals presented at the first meeting of the association at Grand Forks.

Mr. Young's report, which he amplified informally at many points, and the points of which were subject of discussion, follows:

The Children's Code Commission was created by House Bill No. 31 of the Seventeenth Legislative Assembly, and became a law by approval of the governor on March 18, 1921. The commission consists of seven members, each of whom was recommended by one of the seven organizations mentioned in the act. The two preliminary meetings of the commission were held in May and on August 29. A third meeting was held at which the work was organized. The commission has adopted the following objectives:

- Following Objectives.
- 1. To ascertain actual conditions affecting child life in the state.
- 2. To study existing laws affecting children and the efficiency with which they are administered.
- 3. To suggest standards for the administration of existing laws, laws proposed and child welfare agencies.
- 4. To inform the public:

  - a. As to existing conditions.
  - b. As to desirable standards.
  - c. As to possible improvements in conditions.
  - d. As to the scope of the commission's work.

- 5. To report the findings and recommendations of the commission to the governor and the legislature.
- 6. To propose new measures and amendments to existing laws and to assist in the adoption of the legislative program.

"It was deemed advisable to make a comprehensive study of conditions affecting child life in the state. The first objective and that part of the second which is concerned with the efficiency with which existing laws are administered, called for a survey of actual conditions. As the commission has an appropriation of only $2,500 it became apparent that a proper investigation could not be made by the commission. The matter was taken up with the Children's Bureau of the Department of Labor of Washington, which has most graciously agreed to make the investigations, the results of which will be available to the commission. In brief the studies to be made are as follows:

a. Census of dependent, neglected, delinquent, mentally defective, and physically handicapped children under the care of public or private agencies and institutions.

b. A study of dependent children, the reasons for removal of such children from their own homes, disposition, results of placing-out, measures for preventing dependency, need for further provisions, (1) for supervision by the state, (2) for enforcement of parental obligations to support, (3) for dealing with neglect and abuse by parents, (4) for protecting dependent children sent into North Dakota from other states.

c. Survey of mothers' pension administration.

d. Study of a selected number of juvenile courts to determine methods of dealing with court problems, types of probation work, detention, etc.

e. Study of the administration of child labor laws in North Dakota.

f. Study of rural child labor in selected representative farming areas.

Mother's Pensions.

"In addition to this the bureau is furnishing to the commission summaries and analyses of legislation in different states relating to mother's pensions, juvenile courts, the powers and duties of state boards, institutions for dependents, delinquent and defective children, and child labor.

"The survey of this bureau is already under way. For this state generally questionnaires will be used in the following subjects: juvenile courts, dependency and neglect, mother's pensions, care and protection of feeble-minded children, school attendance and recreation.

"Aside from the intensive studies are being made by field workers to the bureau in ten selected counties representing differing conditions. The studies now under way relate to dependency and delinquency, including the juvenile court situation. Other intensive studies on child labor and school attendance are statistics, school nurses, children's hospitals, vaccination, venereal diseases, malnutrition, milk regulations, sanitation and social centers.

General Child Welfare—Americanization, relations between parent and child, marriage, divorce, children of unmarried parents, adoption, guardianship, crimes against children.

This covers the whole field of child welfare and while the commission is having extensive studies made, it is its purpose to be conservative and constructive, and if elimination becomes necessary it in its program will be better than the program after a broad general survey than before actual conditions are laid before us.

"While each member of the commission is specializing in some one of the departments named, they have been grouped so that a committee of three is giving special consideration to defective children, dependent and neglected children and health and recreation, and the remaining four members of the commission are making a special study of delinquent children, education, children in industry and general child welfare."

Defective Children.

"The work to be covered has been divided into seven departments as follows:

1. Defective Children:

a. Physically defective — blind, crippled and tubercular.

b. Mentally defective — feeble-minded, epileptic and insane, with consideration of institutional care and preventive measures.

2. Dependent and Neglected Children, including adult responsibility for jurisdiction of court, institutional care, place finding, provisions for education, poor relief and mothers' pensions.

3. Delinquent Children—Adult responsibility and juvenile courts, probation, institutional care, prevention of delinquency, supervision of families to which delinquents are assigned.

4. Education, compulsory school attendance, night schools, individualized education, physical training, clinics and social conditions in the schools.

5. Children in Industry—Rural child labor, minimum standards, hours of employment, minimum wage, factory inspection, employment certificates, workmen's compensation, vocational training.

6. Health and Recreation—Protection of health of mothers, maternity hospitals, clinics, midwifery, vital statistics.

England, Germany, And Norway—All Disappointed

The Hague, Nov. 19.—Foreign Minister Karnebeek told the Netherlands Parliament the other day that England, Germany and Norway were greatly disappointed over the results of their commercial treaties with Russia. He said that Russian production was so unimportant that barter was impossible that the economic conditions in Russia were getting worse and that the Russian supply was rapidly decreasing.

The Minister was skeptical about opening diplomatic relations with Russia, saying that the Soviet government had never approached the Dutch government for recognition. This, he said, was natural because recognition would mean respect by Russia for the Dutch government and they could hardly expect the Soviets to respect the Dutch form of govern-

In passing upon constitutional questions a court is of course reluctant to determine that the legislature has transgressed mandatory constitutional provisions and it should never do so, except where the violation is clear. Even then, it acts with due sense of the delicacy of the situation. It

LORD HALDANE SAYS GERMANS WORKING HARD

Sheffield, Eng., Nov. 19.—Lord Haldane, who was in Germany a week or so ago says he found the Germans working hard. They had put aside all thoughts of armaments because they realized that armaments did not pay.

They realized, however, that something which would pay was the application of science which they had learned before the war and which they would have applied in peace if they had not been interfered with by a small military party.

Now they were determined to be free from interference of the military party. The output of scientific books had become enormous. All classes of people were working hard, and unemployment hardly existed.

They had no money except paper, which had badly depreciated, and to restore their normal condition they had found work by taking in other peoples washing. He said he saw a large number of ships from Tyneside being repaired in German dockyards because German dockyards could do the work cheaper than the British workers.

The American Negro's Place As Pres. Harding Sees It

The courage of a Republican President in going into the very heart of the South—where the negro question is bitterest, where political and social equality are denied the black man, but where the fundamental right to earn a living is more freely given than in the North—and telling an audience of whites and blacks just where the two races should enjoy equality, and where not, arouses the admiration and condemnation of the Southern press.

This speech, delivered during Birmingham's semi-centennial celebration, declares the New York Globe, is "the most important and the most intelligent statement of the right approach to the negro problem sponsored by any public man in a generation." The Birmingham News hails the President's address as "a message of vital importance to the South, the nation, and the world," and states that "it gave the South a wholly new vision of the clear-headed, thoughtful courage of the man."

On the other hand, the President's address was "tactless" and "a violation of the proprieties" in the opinion of the Birmingham Post, and the Little Rock News fears that his words will "make the ignorant and vicious of both races more vicious." It irritates the South to be lectured on its alleged ill-treatment of the negro," says the Nashville Banner, while the Montgomery Journal remarks that "the South resents intermeddling, whether that intermeddling comes from high or low."

Turning to the negro press, we find enthusiasm over the President's Birmingham speech tempered in some quarters by dissatisfaction with what he said about social equality. The Baltimore Afro-American says that the speech "is being criticized by the colored people because it promises the colored race too little, and by the white people because it promises too much." This negro paper is disappointed because he subscribes to "the white South's view of social equality," which means "intermarriage laws, Jim-Crow street-cars and railways, no political offices for colored people, and discrimination at every point of contact between the two races."

Do not fail to read this very important news-symposium in THE LITERARY DIGEST, this week, November 19th. It presents public opinion upon the negro race question from all angles and from all sections of the country.

Episcopal Parish House is Opened

The new parish house of St. George's Episcopal church was formally opened Thursday evening when the ladies of the guild served a chicken supper. A large crowd of Bismarck people attended both the supper on Thursday night and the luncheon yesterday.

The new parish house has three spacious rooms and a kitchen. The rooms are prettily decorated in harmonizing colors. The rooms will be used for Sunday school work and for meetings of the Boy Scouts. Young People's society and Guild.

The house was especially pretty on the evening of its opening in its decoration of flowers. Carnations and chrysanthemums with the candles lighted formed the attractive table decorations. Hollowed pumpkins, used as fruit baskets were the center pieces.

The parish house will be the center of the social work of the church. The new house is large enough to accommodate a large crowd at any meeting.

Plan Turkey Dinner For ex-Service Men

The Fort Lincoln Chapter of American War Mothers and the Legion Auxiliary are giving a turkey dinner for men of the American Legion and ex-service men at the American Legion hall. The dinner is to be given November 30th at six o'clock and is to be a real Thanksgiving dinner.

A committee from the War Mothers chapter and a committee from the Auxiliary will co-operate in making plans for the dinner. All members of the American Legion and other ex-service men visiting or living in Bismarck are invited to the dinner. Those who are planning on attending are asked to register at the Legion hall, communicate with their adjutant, P. J. Harrington, or in some way notify the committees so that provision may be made for all.

PROMINENT MEN TO GIVE TALKS TO BOYS' GROUPS

Next Monday will be election night at the grand camp of Pioneers. At the last meeting the following boys were nominated for the office of Chief of Grand Camp: Evert Dunn, John Moses Gerald Jackson, Walter LeRoy, and Marion Folsom. The deputy chief and the scribe will be nominated and elected after the ballots are counted on Monday night. This will be the first duty of the grand chief.

The candidates made nomination speeches and until Monday night's election the friends of the candidates will be working hard for the success of their choice of chief. Through the courtesy of the Town Criers J. A. Hall of New York paid the boys a visit Monday night. Mr. Hall gave the boys a snappy ten minutes talk on ways.

The Grand Camp program is as follows:

Nov. 21—High ways and byways, by J. E. Kaulfuss of the State High Wavs.

Nov. 28—Public speaking, by C. L. Young.

10:30 A. M.—Pioneer groups.

1:30 P. M.—Episcopal scouts.

3:00 P. M.—Older boys.

5:00 P. M.—Baptist scouts.

The boys are reminded that they may not participate in games on the gymnasium floor unless they wear gymnasium shoes.

Richholt School.

The pupils of the Richholt school received their new basket ball and played a game with the junior high school on Thursday evening. The score was a tie, 4 to 4.

Classes will not be held on Thursday and Friday of next week, two days being given for the Thanksgiving vacation.

High School.

The members of the football team of the high school will be the guests of the members of the Domestic Science class at a banquet which will be given in the Domestic Science room of the high school on Saturday night. The members of the team are looking forward to this event.

The date for the next high school dance has been set for November 23. The former McKenzie orchestra will furnish the music. The committee in charge of the dance is Kenneth Morris, chairman; Donald Jones, Edward Scott and Gerald Hunter.

Boys of the senior class are making arrangements for the reorganization of the A. M. C. Club which the boys of last year's senior class had.

Superintendent Martin issued bulletin No 34 to the students bearing on various matters of immediate importance. Among them was mentioned the Thanksgiving offering. Last year the amount raised was $120. It is hoped that the amount will be even greater this year. The amount will be divided between the children's home at Fargo and the Society of the Friendless.

Miss Florence Bentley and Miss Gertrude Bergan of the Wachter school will attend the State Teachers Association meeting in Fargo the first part of next week.

Mrs. Grace Hand leaves this evening for Valley City, where she will visit friends over the week-end. From Valley City she will leave for Fargo, where she will attend the State Teachers Association meeting.

As a matter of precaution Superintendent Martin issued special instructions in addition to previous instruction regarding the campaign against all epidemics. All pupils absent for any illness, whatever for any one day or more are required to secure a certificate from their physician before returning to school.

Harris Owens, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Owens, is confined to his home with a light case of smallpox. He is a student in the second grade at the Richholt school.

Principal DeBolt of the high school is conducting a campaign against tardiness or absence. Circulars are being sent to the parents and they are asked to see that their children are punctual in attendance.

The Alumni-Men's club—under the direction of Benton Flow will conduct themselves as an Athletic club during the winter and will use the high school gymnasium for their meetings.

Enter Hospital.

Mrs. Philip Schiltzhart of Hazelton, has entered St. Alexius hospital and underwent a serious operation.

Fathers and Mothers, have your children repeat after you, "The Men's Clothes Shop."

Fathers and Mothers, have your children repeat after you, "The Men's Clothes Shop."

It is expected that they will furnish a basket ball scrimmage for the high school team.

Robert and Dorothy Birdzell are absent from high school and are quarantined in their home with diphtheria.

Myrtle Freeburg has successfully passed two tests for the Underwood medal. She wrote 10 words a minute.

Elsie McKee for the seniors, and Barbara Register for the juniors, have been named temporary captains of the girls basketball teams.

Members of the high school have formed a high school band under the direction of Arthur Carlson. The organization had its first meeting in the high school assembly last Tuesday evening. They plan to work during the winter months and give a concert during Class week. The following students are members of the band:

Stein Wallace, clarinet; Mary

Charmy, clarinet, Frank Cabear, clarinet; Charles Moses, drums; Bayard

Jacobson, cornet; Manning Flawall, cornet; Lillian Rigler violin; Howard

Knutson violin; Reid Delver violin;

Arthur Carlson, trombone, and Esther

Larson, piano.

YOUR WEAK POINT

Movies show you strong, plump Hawaiians, splendid specimens of health. But real life differs from reel life. The native Hawaiians are a dying race.

Legislation, now being provided, will attempt to get the Hawaiians to give up tenement life and return to the open-air existence of their ancestors. Government land will be opened for them.

It appears that the white man, as in the case of the American Indian, is civilizing the Hawaiian by exterminating him. The people of the ukulele land cannot survive the bootlegger and the diseases of congested civilization.

They lack the resistance which the white race has been accumulating gradually for centuries.

Your ancestors of 500 years ago probably were as healthy and as strong as oxen. But if they could reappear in our civilization, changed ways of living would quickly deal them a death-blow.

So, too, would you die quickly if you were whisked back to the rigorous life of previous centuries. We are coddled now. The least exposure to the elements, and we "catch our death of cold."

Resistance to weather and climate has been destroyed.

In its place, we have developed resistance against impure water, air and food. City people live in small apartments, cages that would destroy a savage.

The human body, most delicate of all machines, develops and changes resistance or protection to fit environment and geography.

Demonstrating how finely this resistance is adjusted: You live in one locality and are healthy. You move. In the new town, the water does not agree with you. The least exposure starts you sneezing. Changed sources of food supply upsets your stomach. Changed conditions of living call dormant muscles into use, wearying you quickly.

Your unconscious mind sees behind these things and you say, "I'll be all right as soon as I'm acclimated."

Most sickness results from breaking your routine—departing from habitual paths and doing things against which your body hitherto had not found it necessary to rear defenses.

Changes in living conditions and environment should be made gradually. Hawaiians changed too suddenly. If their transition to the civilized state had been spread out over centuries, they would not be a vanishing race.

MUNCIE, KAN., AWOKED

Muncie, Kan., is the kind of a town that would be termed by the polished city gents of the bank robbing fraternity a "hick town." It is not a big city. Perhaps one or two hundred souls, all told, enjoy the advantages of life in the town of Muncie.

It was that idea, perhaps, which led three young men from Kansas City yesterday to take an early morning drive to Muncie, in a stolen car, of course, with the purpose of robbing the Muncie bank.

Recently, the bank at Muncie was robbed, possibly by the same men. Anyway, the bank was robbed, and Muncie did not relish the experience of seeing bandits come into the town, hold up their bank and ride away unmolested. Muncie made provision against a repetition of the incident.

The young men who rode out to Muncie yesterday morning to turn a trick in a "hick town" found the journey back to safety in the big city a long one, by reason of Muncie's preparation and the co-operation of Turner, also a small town. One of them, it was reported yesterday, probably never will take another ride of that kind. And another one will probably take his next ride on a railroad train to Lansing, for Kansas doesn't look with favor on the pastime of robbing banks. The game of banditry has never been popularized in Kansas.

Muncie not only has afforded an effective lesson to the bank robbing profession, but it has afforded an example which other small towns might follow to advantage in the matter of protection of yesterday fully justify whatever expense and trouble Muncie expended in preparing itself against unwelcome visitors of that type. A reception of that character in every town would have a wholesome effect on the ambitious gamblers who live in Kansas City and help to run the policies of the municipality, but who make their way through life by raids on the banks of small towns. Hail to Muncie! The more bank robbers that visit the town in the future the fewer of them will be left to visit other towns.

WHY YOU DO IT

A league against handshaking—the Ligue Contre La Poignee de Main—is growing like wild-fire in Paris. Its members are trying to stop the spread of disease germs by physical contact. Much explanation is said to be required, to avert duels when one Frenchman refuses to shake another's hands.

Is our ancient custom of shaking hands doomed?

Why should two people shake hands, anyhow? It signifies no more than when two orientals rub noses.

The custom started in cave-man days when the fighting right arm was extended to indicate that the war club was not to be used.

In New Guinea, when natives meet, they pluck a leaf and place it on the head, instead of shaking hands. The leaf is their symbol of friendship and peace.

Why do men lift their hats when meeting women? This custom probably dates from the days when knights raised the steel visors or face-lids of their helmets, to get a better look at the ladies and to display their own facial charms.

Yet, if you uncover your head in the interior of Turkey, it is considered indecent.

When you are in Rome, do as Romans do.

If in China, and meeting an old friend, fall on hands and knees and bump forehead thrice on the ground. Meeting the same friend here, slap him on the back, pump-handle his arm and say, "How do you find business?" That always breaks the ice.

Our peculiar customs, such as shaking hands and removing hats instead of coats when meeting the ladies, all date back into the remotest history.

They demonstrate how custom becomes a habit, how a national habit becomes hereditary—in short, the human tendency to go on doing the same thing forever.

We run, mechanically, in certain ruts, generation after generation.

Possibly the present age of automobiles will eliminate the handshake and develop a generation that carries auto horns for greeting each other.

FRANCE WILL NOT FAIL

France, arrive what may, will face her financial destiny as she has faced her military destiny. She will neither beg nor crumble. She knows that now more than ever she must not count upon others, but always upon herself. If it is necessary she will stand up once more, and despite the burden that threatens to crush her, she will find in herself the energy necessary to carry it still further and still higher.

Some European country may perhaps go bankrupt in 1922; but it will not be France.—Stephane Lauzanne in the North American Review.

STINNES

Hugo Stinnes, mysterious German multi-millionaire who seems destined to have a finger in every important German business, "is buying his way into the North German Lloyd Steamship Company."

Next day he puts 125,000,000 marks into German movies. Nearly every day, a new Stinnes venture, thrilling Wall Street.

Bankers are wondering, who is Stinnes? Real mystery is, who is back of Stinnes? Some one, you can gamble on that. Is it the military party? Stinnes is rated as a billionaire. Even Rockefeller couldn't do that in half a decade.

CLEAN SPORT AND CLEAN NATIONS

It is cheering to find the University of Minnesota apologizing, and apologizing outright and unequivocally, because the coach of its football team played a trick in numbering players, which amounted to an evasion of the conference rules.

It is cheering because it matters a good deal to America that its colleges should mean to win or lose by the merit of their play.

Said President Ganfield of Carroll college the other night: "No nation can be cleaner than its sport, no man can be cleaner than his play, and no nation can rise higher than its manhood." He meant, we suppose, that the kind of man you are shows up more clearly than anywhere else in your play. You do the thing you want to do, no one compelling. If you like, you can play a lazy man's game, taking whatever score drops out of the hat. Or you can fight for every possible inch, every stroke on every hole. Or you can cheat.

Cheating in sport doesn't hurt one's adversary much. It only fools the cheater, who gains nothing at all. But if a man is a cheater, he will carry it into his play.

We need clean sport in America. Perhaps we need it now more than at some other times. For word seems to have got around to some men down at Washington that if you can cheat other nations and get away with it, you're pretty smart. Minnesota apologizes for an evasion of the conference rule.—Milwaukee Journal.

CHINA KNOWS GOOD STYLE

FAITH

(Florence Borner.)

Down in the depths of sadness,
Into the Vale of Pain,
Far from all joy and gladness,
Striving but all in vain;
Comes a voice filled with mercy,
Saying: "all is not lost"—
Over the precipice gleaming,
I see a cross.

Out from the depths of sorrow,
Into the Vale of Hope,
Seeing a new tomorrow,
Bringing a wider scope;
Trusting each day for guidance,
Unto a land afar,
High in the heavens beaming,
I see a star.

I AM A MONARCH
(By H. S. Loebach)
Before my breath the earth must freeze.
And bare stand bush and naked trees;

I wave my sceptre o'er the land
And straightway all its life is banned.

From regions of the North I call
The sombre cloud battalions all;
I marshal them in heaven high.
And under the sunlight from the sky.

With skillful hand designs I trace On window panes, of flowers and lace;

I howl and whistle round about

Till scarce a soul dare venture out.

Across the lake I blow my breath
And all the waves are still as death.
I forge them fast in fetters cold.
I am a monarch strong and bold.

Where'er I lookeye, lo, over night
The blossoms fall before my blight;
And where at eve their fragrance fell:
The dawn reveals no light.

High in the Northland is my home
Amid eternal ice I roam.
I am the winter hard and cold.
I am a monarch strong and bold.

SUPREME COURT

From Ransom County

Henry O. Olson, Plaintiff and Respondent, vs. Horton Motor company, a corporation. W. H. Horton, W. G. Kirby, and W. L. Martineka, Defendants and Appellants.

Syllabus:

(1) The plaintiff brought an action against defendants for false arrest and imprisonment. Certain issues of fact were submitted to a jury on a special verdict. The Court in submitting the special verdict also gave what is regarded as general instructions of law. It is held that this was reversible error.

(2) At the time of submitting a special verdict the Court also submitted two forms of general verdict under the same instructions, and in connection with the special verdict. It is held that the submission of the general verdicts in the circumstances in which they were submitted was reversible error.

Appeal from the District Court of Ransom county, North Dakota. G. M. McKenna Judge.

Opinion of the Court by Grace, C. J. Bronson, J. concurs in the result. Robinson, Christianson and Birkett, J. J. Specially concurring.

Judgment reversed.

Curtis & Remington, Lisbon, N. D., and E. T. Burke, Bismarck, N. D., Attorneys for Plaintiff and Respondent.

Lawrence, Murphy & Niles, Fargo, N. D., Attorneys for Defendants and Appellants.

Appeal from the District Court of Cass County

The Johnson Construction Company Respondent, vs. Melvin A. Hildreth Appellant.

Syllabus:

For the construction of a cement basement wall under the house of defendant on Eighth Street, in the City of Fargo, the jury found a verdict against him for $243.44, and interest.

Held that the verdict is clearly right and the judgment is affirmed.

Appeal from the District Court of

Mrs. WILLIMAN TESTIFIES

Declares Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Be the Best Medicine for Girls and Women

Hamilton, Ohio.—"I had such pain in my back I could hardly stand on my feet and I was never without a headache. If I walked up town I thought I would drop and many a time I felt so bad I had to go to bed and I was not able to do much of my housework. I would have hemorrhages every two weeks and dragging down pains. I had been feeling badly for three years and had two of the best doctors in the city, but I kept getting worse and weighed 125 pounds. I saw your advertisement and took eight boxes of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets, four bottles Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine and your Liver Pills and noticed an improvement right away. Now I weigh 108 pounds and feel fine. Everybody tells me how well I look and asks me what I took and I always say, 'Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the best medicine in the world for any sickness to which girls and women are subject.' I will always have a good word for your medicine and you may use my name whenever you wish."

—Mrs. JOSEPH WILLIMAN, 722 South 9th Street, Hamilton, Ohio.

Cass county Hon. A. T. Cole, Judge Affirmed.
Opinion of the Court by Robinson, J. Bronson, Jr. concurs in result. S. L. Nichols and M. A. Hildreth, in Pro. Attorneys for Appellant. Taylor Crum, Attorney for Respondent.

From Dickey County John Kupfer and Harland Kupfer, Appellants, vs James McConville, Respondent.

Syllabus:

Plaintiffs contracted to construct a well under a special contract. They failed to substantially perform the contract, and voluntarily abandoned it, over the protest of the owner, before they had constructed a well at all. It is held, for reasons stated in the opinion, that no recovery can be had on quantum meruit for the value of the labor furnished and the pipe put into the ground.

From a Judgment of the District Court of Dickey County, McKenna, J., plaintiff's appeal.

Affirmed.

HARVARD-YALE UNIVERSITIES CLASH TODAY

This Will Be Their 40th Battle Since Inception of Series In 1873

BASKETBALL TO OCCUPY STAGE AT HIGH SCHOOL

Practice Starts Monday; Strong Schedule is Arranged

For This Year

YALE LEADS IN POINTS

Boston Nov. 19.—Harvard and Yale universities will complete their 1921 football season in the Stadium here this afternoon when the two varsity eleves meet in their 40th gridiron battle since the inception of the series in 1873. On the eve of the contest the outcome is a subject of much discussion of a wide difference of opinion among both the followers of the two institutions and football in general. While the Eels have a little of the edge in the matter of favoritism it is the consensus of opinion among the close observers of the game that there is really little choice in the chances of the Blue and the Crimson.

Yale has made an impressive showing this season in the role of a football come back while Harvard, with an unusually trying schedule has gone down to defeat twice. Early fall results, however, must be discarded, to some extent, in view of the fact that both teams have been specially pointed for this the final and most important struggle of the schedule. Special plays, players and series of substitutes will be being into tomorrow's game with an abandon not possible in the earlier battles of the autumn.

As a result the outcome of the contest is likely to hinge upon the breaks of the play, the physical condition of the first string men, the correctness of tactics adopted by the two team general and other angles and opportunities which cannot be gauged in advance. The only possible line of comparison is that which concerns the ability and characteristics of the personnel composing the eleven.

In this respect Yale is undoubtedly in a stronger position than in several years. The Eels' football squad is composed of strong, fast, alert and brazen players possessing keen football instinct. This has been demonstrated repeatedly this fall. Combined with these desirable touchstones, the team, a whole has been won over in both the fundamentals and the tricks of the game. The attack and defense is based upon the requirements of modern football and it is doubtful if a stronger or better balanced Yale eleven has faced the Crimson in some seasons.

Harvard's team is the same type of Cambridge football machine that has scored so effectively in recent years but it is a moot question as to whether the players, as individuals, quite reach the high standard in physical power and playing skill, obtained by those of the past few seasons. The lessons learned in the defeats administered by both Center College and Princeton have been well absorbed and it is certain that when the team enters the game against Yale it will be a formidable combination. The Blue will face a machine well versed in all forms of direct offense, the concentrated ball play and the long and short overhead attack. In fact it is not unlikely that the offense will be stronger than the defense.

A victory for Harvard, which would be the seventh since 1912 would still leave the Blue with an overwhelming preponderance of triumphs when the series is considered as a whole. While Yale has won by one game's score 49-1, that of 1913 was by one of 6 to 3, the total count of the series, dating back to 1873, shows that the Blue has won 23 games to Harvard's eleven with the others resulting in ties. On total points Yale also leads 256 to Harvard's 261.

FIELDS MUDDY AS GRID TEAMS CLASH TODAY

Biggest Games of Season in East and West Are Being Played

Chicago Nov. 19.—On muddy grids the 10 western conference teams meet today to decide final places in the 1921 standing with prospects that compiled bonuses would be split between Ohio State and Iowa universities. These are the only undefeated teams and unless the unexpected is shown by their opponents should finish with clean slates.

Ohio State meets Illinois at Columbus and Iowa plays Northwestern at Chicago.

The former number one is in press here. Chicago and Michigan, having lost one game to date, Michigan appears certain of victory. The over Minnesota but the Maroons have a more difficult task against Wisconsin. The Badgers, with only as to score against their record, would certainly place in the event of a victory at Chicago today.

Stanford University, Calif., Nov. 19.—The sands were pouring onto the Stanford campus for the annual football clash between California and Stanford.

Approximately 6,000 persons, the greatest number ever to attend a football game in the west are expected

California goes into the game a big favorite.

New York Nov. 19.—The final clash of the year in the grid war of the two world powers of Harvard and Yale, the two houses of Harvard, in the past, have started the peak interest in a gridiron play to day. Yale, in its 11th year, college football, is now leading the gridiron in the country.

Feb. 24—Fargo (at Fargon).
Feb. 25—Fargo (at Fargo).
March 3—Dickinson at Dickinson.

GRAFTON BEATS WILLISTON TEAM SCORE 28 TO 14

State High School Title is Clouded as a Result of the Victory

The state high school football title probably will be decided in game between Grafton and Fargo, to be played in Fargo next Wednesday or Thursday. Grafton eliminated Williston at Minot yesterday and as Fargo and Grafton had tied in their game, it is proposed to play off the tie.

Mandan high school probably has lost a chance at the state title, by not entering into the four-centered contest. Mandan, it is expected, will play Williston at Mandan Thanksgiving, but since Williston has been eliminated the game cannot be counted in the state title play.

Grafton defeated the much-touted Williston team, 21 to 14, at Minot yesterday afternoon. The game was played in a temperature below freezing and on a field covered with snow. The game was not started until 3:30 P.M.

Williston was outplayed until the latter part of the game when with successful fake and open plays the western eleven put over two touchdowns. The first half ended 7 to 0. Grafton, playing Grafton back, went through the Williston line for a touchdown. In the third quarter Carpenter received a fumbled punt and made a touchdown. Again driving plays sent the ball over and the third quarter ended 21 to 14. Grafton scored early in the fourth quarter, taking the ball over from the one-foot line.

In the closing minutes a fake play set over one touchdown for Williston and Olson intercepted a forward pass and raced 50 yards for a touchdown.

SHE INTERPRETS JAP SPEECHES

Versailles, Nov. 18.—The power as a Romeo that Henri Landru, French "Bluebeard," possessed in his dealings with women, is well illustrated in his flattering and sentimental letters. One, in possession of the police, reads in part:

"I saw yesterday that your eyes, your beautiful, soulful eyes, so deep and so moving, were veiled by some sorrow. I believe you are grieved that I do not bring you a tenderness and affection such as your glorious soul deserves. You alone can restore my calm with a word."

Another reads in part:

"I think only of thee, my queen. Does not our love smile like nature in spring, amid the verdure on which my eyes always are fixed, seeking thee always? What shall I do without thee, when all my happiness, all my daily strength, are turned toward thee? Everything is said without thee, well beloved. Why hast thou forsaken me?"

EVEN HARDING MINDS THIS MAN—HE'S HIS DENTIST

By NEA Service.

Cleveland, Nov. 18—"Open your mouth wide. Sit still. Don't squirm!" Dr. John Stephan has said that to President Harding.

And to Mrs. Harding.

And to John D. Rockefeller, Sr.

And to Myron T. Herrick, American ambassador to France.

And to M. Charles Bertrand, leading French deputy who, some say, will be France's next premier.

All of them do just what Stephan tells them. Because he's a dentist.

Fixing the teeth of the renowned is a regular thing with Stephan. He's probably pulled more teeth out of famous heads than any dentist in the world.

Whenever Harding has a toothache he wires Stephan, who gets on a train and administers relief in the White House.

At the recommendation of President Harding several members of General Foch's retinue, including Bertrand, waited till they reached Cleveland to have their dental work done.

"These famous people, who can command hundreds by a wave of the hand, are the meekest patients imaginable when they get in the dental chair," Stephan says.

"Take President Harding. A dentist couldn't have a better patient. If I tell him to do a thing, I know it'll be done. John D. Rockefeller is the same way."

"Why? Because these great men tried to ruling have self-control and self-discipline. Lack of that makes people squirm and squeak in the chair."

THEATER'S

AT THE REX

"The Mistress of Shenstone," the new Robertson-Cole super-special photoplay starring Pauline Frederick, opened yesterday at the Rex Theater and should play to capacity houses throughout the engagement. It is one of the strongest dramas ever produced on the silver sheet and the great emotional actress is at her best in a sympathetic role. The story was adapted to the screen from the novel of the same name by Florence Lupton.

The story of "The Mistress of Shenstone" is laid in Lancashire, England, and lends itself to beautiful settings both interior and exterior. Undoubtedly Harry King, the director, had his hands full finding the proper locations on the Pacific coast. One scene, that of a Cornish inn on the rocky coast of Cornwall, is perfect in detail.

As Lady Myra Ingleby, Miss Frederick falls in love with the man who was responsible for the death of her husband. She does not know it at the time but after having promised to marry him she finds it out. The catastrophe was purely an accident to which she forgives.

HEARING POSTPONED.

Hearing on an application for a resumption for the return to Minneapolis of Albert Kotke, of Mandan on a charge of child desertion was

ing, on request of the state's attorney who wishes to present additional information to the governor.

Charles R. Shaver graduated from Fargo College Academy in 1916. After that he spent two years in the aviation service for Uncle Sam and has followed that with the near completion of his college work and completion of two years at end on the football team. He weighs 150 pounds and is four inches under six feet in height. He is active in all college activities.

Earl W. Burns has been an end for Fargo for four years and also has had three years on the college basketball team and looks forward to completing his fourth year on the court this winter. He accomplished his prep work in Fargo high school, graduating in 1916. His weight in playing condition is 155 pounds and he lacks an inch of the regulation six feet in height.

AT THE BISMARCK

"Shams of Society," one of the most unusual photo-dramas of the day, will be shown for the first time Monday at the Bismarck Theater where it will remain for two days. The story is based upon the novel "Shams" from the facile pen of Walter MacNamara and was adapted to the screen by Kenneth C. Harlan and Mary Murillo.

Barbara Castleton, Montagu Love, Macey Hartigan, Julia Swaine Gordon, Lucile Lorraine Stewart, Edwards Davis and others appear in the cast and the production, distributed by R-C Pictures Corporation, easily maintains that organization's high standard of excellence.

Former Service Men's War Risk Insurance

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 19.—An additional extension of time until January 1, 1922, has been granted to former service men who wish to re-instate their war risk insurance and convert it into any form of protection granted by private companies, according to announcement by H. F. Dickensheets, department head, Federal Board for Vocational Education, of the district comprising Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Montana.

A cashier's representative is on duty in the Minneapolis headquarters office to take care of the insurance requests. Mr. Dickensheets declared, adding that he thought it unlikely that a further extension of time will be made by the government.

Coincident with this announcement, Mr. Dickensheets stated that as the result of the recent decentralization program of the Federal Board local districts in the four states may now receive and act upon any claims presented by former soldiers. Formerly all such claims had to be sent to Washington, which necessitated frequent long delays. Local officials at Fargo, Duluth, Sioux Falls, Helena, St. Paul and Minneapolis headquarters have the authority to act upon the claims presented before them.

Two Good Men Are Lost To Future Teams

Fargo, N. D., Nov. 19.—But two of the men who represented Fargo college in football this season were lost to future teams when the men hung up their moleskins a week ago and isn't always the one who sits at the head of the table and carves the Sunday chicken.

Many times it's Mother whose clever head-work makes the family income travel just twice as far as it otherwise might.

Mother usually sees to it that the Savings Account is "paid" just as regularly as the grocery bill—so that as long as there is a family there'll be Sunday chicken to carve.

An account here ably assists the head of the family.
